

Layer 4, Social Annotation: Final Responses and Reflection

The aim of this layer is to serve as a natural endpoint for the sustained annotation activity. It is an opportunity to finalize and refine your arguments and reflect on the process and evolution of ideas. It is also one last chance to raise any lingering questions, uncertainties, or trouble spots you may want to discuss with your group before revising and finalizing your paper in the remaining weeks of this unit.

All annotations in this layer MUST be Posted to [the class/group] from the drop-down post-to menu and include two separate tags: a Layer 4 tag in addition to the tag types for Layer 4, which are listed on the next page, after the image below:

If you don't post to the class/group, your group will not be able to see or interact with your annotations.

Layer 4 Annotation Types and Guidelines

 Final Responses, Tag: FR Revisit your annotations to consider how your views have evolved and note anything you may have missed previously. Review the text and the discussion that emerged to glean insights, solidify your position, and make note of ways to strengthen the argument in your rough draft.

 Reflections, Tag: Reflection Reflect on your learning journey throughout this annotation assignment. Discuss how your thinking evolved, what challenges you faced, how you overcame them, and how this process impacted your understanding of the text and the nature of argument. This tag can also be used to reflect on the changes you made to your argument and why you made them.

 Suggestions, Tag: Suggestion If you have any suggestions for improvement to the design or execution of this annotation assignment, please share your insights, observations, and experiences so I can revise and improve it moving forward.

Aim for at least 3 annotations spread across these category types, but feel free to go beyond this. The goal for all annotation activities is for them to be organic and useful.

Return to the social annotation activity as you revise and finalize your paper. We still have two distinct drafts to go at this point: the Revised Draft, which must show evidence of having made meaningful content-based revisions between drafts using the Compare or Track Changes feature in Word or the equivalents thereof and the Final Draft.
